Ms. Annie R. Neasman has been an integral part of our Jessie Trice Community Health System, Inc. (JTCHS) family for 19 years, contributing significantly to our growth, success, and the well-being of our community. Under her leadership, JTCHS has continued to set trends and standards for primary care services in South Florida.

As we bid farewell to a remarkable chapter, we are organizing the Celebration of a Legacy of Service to commemorate her lifelong commitment to improving healthcare access and outcomes for underserved communities. This celebration will include the kickoff campaign for the establishment of the JTCHS Annie R. Neasman Teaching and Research Annex. This annex will focus on the training of medical professionals to work in community health centers and expand upon research into the maladies that impact minorities in our community.

Ms. Neasman's distinguished career in public service spans over 40 years, with key leadership roles, including serving as the former Deputy Secretary of Health/Chief Public Health Nurse for the Florida Department of Health (FDOH) in Tallahassee. She was also the Deputy District Administrator for FDOH serving Miami-Dade and Monroe County, and she was the Administrator for the Department of Nursing in Jackson Memorial Hospital System.

This Celebration is a unique opportunity to honor her dedication, passion, and commitment to improving healthcare outcomes for all communities. Her unwavering support to serve those in need positions her as a true leader in the healthcare field and in life.

Please consider supporting the "Celebration of a Legacy of Service" to make this event a memorable tribute to Ms. Neasman. This is a chance to showcase your commitment to South Florida's healthcare industry and community. Your support will contribute to the success of this celebration, allowing us to cement Ms. Neasman's impactful legacy.

For further details or to confirm your sponsorship, please contact us at (305) 805-1700 or tmthompson@jtchs.org. Thank you for considering this opportunity, and we look forward to celebrating this extraordinary legacy of service together.

Sincerely,

Ms. Irene Taylor-Wooten
Chairwoman of the Board
Jessie Trice Community Health System, Inc.
